Media Reminder
June 8, 2006

Cincinnati's 19th Annual Juneteenth Festival

Cincinnati will commemorate and celebrate the end of slavery with our 18th annual Juneteenth Festival in Eden Park.

As you have probably realized by now, this festival is a non-profit, bare bones, volunteer-based event with very little advertising budget. And we make no bones about looking to our friends in the media to help us spread the word!

2006 Sponsors & Contributors

- Active Learning Childcare Center
- Cincinnati Park Board
- Juneteenth Cincinnati, Inc.
- Glory Foods
- Kroger Company
- May Festival
- Playhouse in the Park
- S & S Printing
- Schmidlapp Fund
- Six Acres B & B
- The National Underground Railroad Freedom Center
- WCIN Radio
- WIZF / WDBZ Radio

June 17: Noon to Nine Juneteenth Festival Eden Park

- No admission & a day loaded with free entertainment
- Jazz, gospel, reggae, R&B
- Family-oriented, with an area dedicated and staffed (volunteers) for kids
- Free health screening & consults
- Sweet potato pie bake-off
- Vending
- Electric Slide
- Food ((No alcohol!))

June 18: 2:30-6 pm June Festival

- Eden Park Seasongood Pavilion
- Father's Day Concert
- Some of the area's finest gospel choirs
- Reviving a Cincinnati tradition after a half-century interruption!
- Inspirational music the whole family will enjoy

We'd be delighted to have you cover the events on June 17 & 18. But we also need coverage in the next two weeks before the Festival. We also have a lot more information on our website: www.juneteenthcincinnati.org

Sincerely,

Lydia J. Morgan
